

These are the new beauty launches you need to know about this July

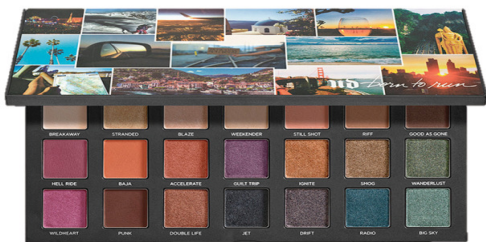

Face and Body Foundation, Dior

Six undertones (red, pink, beige, yellow, olive...) and forty shades makes this foundation one of the most inclusive offerings we know. It's super buildable and no matter how much you layer on, you'll still get that second skin finish.

Hello Happy Soft Blur Foundation, Benefit

Breathable, blurring and buildable, this new foundation is giving us life. The demi-matte finish and soft-focus effect effortlessly blends into skin so it looks like, well, skin.

Born To Run Eyeshadow Palette, Urban Decay

If you're anything like us, you have every single Urban Decay eyeshadow palette ever and rather than using up half your luggage allowance taking them all on holiday, there's the Born To Run palette of 21 shades ranging from shimmery bright to matte neutrals.

Palette Essentielle Été, Chanel

The star of Chanel's first ever beauty Cruise Collection, this oh-so-chic palette has all your essential summer shades; two beautifully golden highlighters and a lip and cheek colour for a pop of playful pink.

Scandaleyes Wow Wings Mascara, Rimmel London

This innovative mascara has two different types of bristles for 11 x more volume. Plus, the formula is long-wearing, smudge-proof and flake-proof, making it perfect for summer wear.

Le Volume Revolution de Chanel Mascara, Chanel

In case you missed it, last week Chanel launching the world's first 3D printed mascara and it's as epic as we had hoped. Jet-black formula, zero-clumping and endless lashes in one sweep? Um, yes please.

Always On Petal Metal Liquid Lipstick, Smashbox

Matte metallic may sound like a contradiction, but for Smashbox's liquid lipstick, it just makes sense. In three rose gold shades, this luminous and lightweight formula is also long-lasting and budget-proof.

Lip Velvet Crush, Burberry

Everything you ever wanted in a summer lip colour; the endurance of a stain, the colour of a lipstick and the feel of a lip balm. Plus, it comes in twelve shades ranging from a pop of pink to a luscious, evening red.
